BY MRS. EMILY REISENBERG.

Oh Tannenbaum, Oh Tannenbaum,
Wie gruen sind deine Blätter.

Every little toddler old enough to join hands and circle around the Christmas tree is taught to sing this song, possibly long before he can enunciate clearly, or his vision will reach above the lower branches of the tree, where he is sure to find his gingerbread man and enticing hearts, stars and other fancy cakes, decorated with candied fruits, nuts, or colored icing. Some of the more familiar varieties, such as Springerli, Lebkuchen or Peppernuts, have so often been embodied in Christmas articles that I will give a few novelties.

(Remember all measurements are level. Use a graded half-pint measuring cup and sift flour before measuring.)

Eier Kringel.
(Yolk Rings.)

Ingredients—Grated yolks of three hard-boiled eggs, one raw yolk, one-half cup butter, one-half cup sugar, two cups sifted pastry flour, one-half teaspoon lemon extract.

Method—Beat sugar, yolks and butter until well mixed and smooth; knead well, then roll one-quarter inch thick, using flour sparingly; cut with a doughnut cutter, with hole in center; brush tops with a little well-beaten egg, strew granulated sugar over and bake on waxed tins to delicate gold.

(To bake any of these small cakes use paraffine to wax the baking tins, as grease of any kind will impart an unpleasant odor, and when baking have a very low fire and watch carefully as they scorch easily.)

Christmas Pretzels.

Ingredients—Two-thirds cup butter, one-half cup granulated sugar, two eggs, three cups sifted pastry flour.
Method—Cream butter and sugar, add well beaten eggs and beat again, then add flour gradually taking dough onto floured board after it can be handled. Knead smooth, then cover and set aside for one or two hours. To form pretzels, take up small portions of dough, roll like a pencil about seven inches long, now bring the ends around to center of roll, cross ends and press down firmly, thus forming two rings, lay on waxed tins, brush tops with beaten egg yolk and strew sugar over. Bake in moderate heat until lightly tinged with color.

Anise Pretzels.
Method—Use above recipe, but add a teaspoon of line sifted anise seed to the flour when mixing.

Almond Pretzels.
Method—When forming pretzels roll the strip in finely ground almonds and granulated sugar before shaping.

Chocolate Walnut Bars.
Ingredients—Four eggs, three-quarters of a pound granulated sugar, one pound ground walnut meats, three ounces grated sweet and bitter chocolate.

Method—Beat sugar and eggs twenty minutes, add chocolate and nuts and beat well, run through partry squirt on waxed tins to form bars about three inches apart so they will not touch and bake in moderate heat. If you have no partry squirt form into small mounds by dipping a teaspoon in water and taking up small portions to form mounds on the tin.

Almond Wreaths.
Method—Use above recipe, but substitute almonds for walnuts, run through partry squirt to form small wreaths and bake as other cakes.

Almond Macaroon Cakes.
Ingredients—One-half cup butter, half cup granulated sugar, one egg, two cups sifted pastry flour, one-quarter cup of ground almonds.

Method—Cream butter, sugar and egg until very light, add nuts and flour, then take onto well-floured board and knead a little, using only enough flour to keep dough from sticking. Roll rather thin, then cut with small round cutter, lay on waxed tins and prepare the frosting as follows:

Macaroon Frosting.
Ingredients—One egg, one cup granulated sugar, one cup ground almonds.

Method—Beat egg and sugar ten minutes, add ground nuts, beat well, then place small mounds on top of each cake, bake in moderate heat until dough is nicely baked and frosting is crinkly and done throughout.

Fancy Cakes for Tree.

Method—Use recipe as given for the almond macaroon cakes, roll rather thin, then cut with fancy cutters, stars, hearts, crescents or little figures. When cut decorate with candied fruits, nuts, or brush with beaten egg and strew colored sugar over. Sometimes a little vegetable coloring added to plain icing may be used effectively.

and orphans, but industrial and commercial stagnation, causing great distress among the people.

A few weeks ago the 1500th anniversary of the invention of the Armenian alphabet and the 40th anniversary of the printing of the first book in the Armenian language was celebrated. The celebration of this double anniversary was a great event for the poor, oppressed and down-trodden Armenians. They had special service in all their churches and also evening hundreds of boys and men paraded the streets of Hadjin, carrying banners, singing songs, etc. Saint Mesrob Mashdots, who lived in the latter part of the fourth and the beginning of the fifth centuries, is regarded as the discoverer of the Armenian alphabet, though probably some letters may have been used before his day, and certainly some were added later. The Armenian alphabet has 38 characters and words are pronounced just as they are spelled. Both the Armenians and the Greeks in this country use their respective alphabets to write and print not only their own, but also the Turkish language, and thus not only gratify a national preference for those alphabets, but secure a real and very great advantage in clearly expressing the vowel sounds. The Turks make use of the Arabic characters which are much harder. Arabic looks much like shorthand. I used the Armenian characters in studying Turkish and found the language study very interesting. Much of the missionary time during the first year or two on the field is devoted to language study, as one can not accomplish much in this or other lands until one has a fair hold on the language.

"I was alone in the girls' orphanage last week—the only American in Hadjin. The Ebyes and Miss Lambert are living at the garden, just outside the city. My co-worker, Miss Bowman, was called to Erek, where our boys' orphanage and school is located, on business. She returned on Saturday. I went out several hours to meet her and enjoyed the ride. In fact, I am very fond of horse-back riding and have become quite a fearless equestrienne. I am glad that I like it, as this is the only mode of travel in the interior.

"Our large family of orphans are well and busy with their school work. The school for the blind which was opened a few years ago, is doing well. The Braille system for the blind is being used.

"Laboring for the Master in this land is no child's play. But I thoroughly enjoy the work.
